MEDICINAL.

Sickness steals more savings than the burglar. Slowly, coin by coin, the money that has been so hard earned is paid out for drugs and doctors. Sickness is the worst enemy of the working man, and the common cause of the working man's sickness is disease of the stomach often involving the heart, lungs, liver, or kidneys.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will stop the stealing of the savings by sickness. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., when these diseases are caused by the diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs.

About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach, writes Wm. Connolly, of 333 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have employed and been treated by the best doctors in the city but got no help whatever. By some way or other I happened to get hold of a vial of your 'Pellies,' and I thought they helped me. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint, and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing else is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

CHURCHMEN AT ODDS.

Advices from London say that the English Church Congress, following so closely on the death of John Kensit, the anti-ritualist crusader, and all the bitter feelings which that somewhat tragic event accentuated, could scarcely have been expected to be a peace conference, and to the normal disagreements which exist between the high and low sections of the church, an unexpected note of discord has been added. This comes in an outspoken criticism of the Bible's infallibility. The discussion had none of that academic one which is so often associated with English and American discussion of so-called German "school of thought." It was an eloquent plea from well-known men for a rational teaching of the Bible to children, "so that when they grow up they will not discard the inner meaning of Oriental imagery, as they do the tales of Santa Claus."

Dr. Wordsworth, Bishop of Salisbury, opened the discussion and Rev. Alexander Kirkpatrick, regius professor of Hebrew at Cambridge and Canon of Ely, followed, boldly declaring they must not regard all parts of the Bible as being equally valuable.

Rev. Edgar Gibson, prebendary of Wales and Chaplain-in-Ordinary to the King, compared the Bible to Shakespeare's mythical character of Macbeth, "around which Shakespeare built up a great human document." So, other writers, he asserted, took up certain fabled incidents, and built around them the great truths which made religion what it is. The clergy was wrong in going on teaching the Bible in the old way. The church had nothing to fear, but had much to gain, from the new criticism.

Sir A. Short, master at Harrow, said the cheap press had rendered it impossible for the people to read the Bible as did Cromwell's Ironsides. He believed the majority of school teachers adopted an uncanonized attitude before their Biblical classes, "which was morally unwholesome and scientifically incorrect."

Such treatment of boys merely led the pupils to easy disbelief in later years.

Rev. Dr. King raised a great controversy by saying the Bible could no longer be regarded as the standard of morals.

Dr. Alexander, Bishop of Dore, quoting Christ, reminded the Congress that all revelation is progressive.

WANT DARDANELLES.

The report that Turkey is willing to declare the Dardanelles open for Russia and closed for all the other powers is causing excitement in Europe. It is possible for Turkey to take action in accordance with that policy without making a declaration. The whole situation in eastern Europe supports the view that Russia is preparing some great coup for the present or the near future.

Both Austria and Germany expect that the raising of the Dardanelles question will be part of the scheme. In fact, Austria and Germany, with their ally, Roumania, are desirous of raising the question themselves, in order that Russia will not have any opportunity for springing any arrangement upon the powers at a time most convenient to herself and inconvenient to the others.

After Russia had obtained the passage of the Dardanelles for several of her torpedo boats, Roumania, acting on the advice of the allies, applied for admission for the passage of the straits on behalf of warships she desired to have repaired in foreign dockyards. The permission has not been granted, and is unlikely to be given, as it would clash with Russia's contention. Russia possibly thought to obtain from Turkey a binding promise either in the form of a secret convention or pledge from the Sultan, that her other so-called unarmed warships should receive permits for the passage of the Dardanelles without arousing the attention of the powers. It is certain that Russia has something beyond this in mind, because the result would be out of proportion to her elaborate efforts to bring pressure to bear on Turkey with the assistance of Bulgaria, and the recent autumn rehearsal for a Macedonian rising was the right season to spring her plan.

HIGH POKER GAME ON ST. PAUL.—Passengers who arrived at New York on the American Liner St. Paul Saturday were discussing the phenomenal luck at poker of Colonel Gordon Stanley and two other first cabin passengers, F. Alexander and C. Linwell. It is estimated that the trio cleared up close to $30,000.

Colonel Gordon Stanley wore a medal and had a nervous attack that caused his face to twitch at brief intervals. The biggest play of the trip occurred Friday night, after Colonel Stanley, Mr. Alexander and four others had been playing tables stakes for several hours. There was a jack pot, and Stanley was dealing. The first three to the left of Colonel Stanley (including Alexander) passed, and the fourth man opened for $50.

The fifth man made it $100 to draw cards. Colonel Stanley dropped out with his neighbor to the left and all the others remained. Alexander drew one card and the opener drew two. The fifth drew one. He dropped out. The opener bet $100 and the fifth man raised it to $500. Alexander raised $600 more. The opener raised $500 more. The fifth saw the last raise and made it $500 more. Alexander saw all raises with a monotonous "raise you $500 more."

When it came to a show-down there was $11,000 in the pot. The opener had four queens. The fifth man threw down four kings and Alexander spread out upon the table the two, three, four, five and six of hearts.

ODD BRIDAL CUSTOMS.—There used to be a custom of strewing flowers before the bride couple as they went to the church and from the church to the house. Suppose the way with fragrant herbs were strewing.

All things were ready, we to the church were going. And now suppose the priest had joined our hands.

is a quaint old verse that refers to this custom. The Persians introduce a fruit, and it is the place of the guests to try to pluck this without the bridegroom observing. If unsuccessful they must present the bride couple with a gift a hundred times the value of the object removed.

In Tuscan brides wear jasmine wreaths, and there is a legend that reasonable doubt whether, as she claims, this wife would be the happiest woman in the world if she were once more single. Many have sought the divorce courts with that idea, and have been ready to great while after to return to the matrimonial shackles.

"I can't say my husband abuses me, for he does not; only I am not happy," wails this discontented wife; "and I would advise any girl not to get married until she is 35." The sequence of this statement and warning seems a little faulty. The unhappy wife apparently clears the husband of being the cause, and yet holds him responsible for her unhappiness. The ex-ample is not sufficiently

In the advancement of medical science, the kidneys, the organs of the greatest importance to human health, have not been neglected, and in placing before you such a cure as Doan's Kidney Pills the proprietors recognize how far so many statements of the makers of similar preparations have fallen short of their claims, being convinced that no remedy for kidney complaint in existence equals Doan's Kidney Pills for such ailments; strengthened in these convictions by letters that are daily received of the work they are doing for mankind's benefit, old backs and young backs are being constantly freed from never-ceasing aches, and many a lame and shattered one, stooped and contracted, is strengthened, invigorated and infused with new life. With such a medicine an offer of this kind can be made without hesitancy, for while we lose the box we give to you, we make a friend that assists us in the sale of many others.
